This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

RULES OF THE LIBRARY.

1. The library shall be open every week day, from three o'clock to half-past five in the afternoon, and from half-past six o'clock to eight in the evening, and also on Saturday morning from ten o'clock to twelve, and at such other times as the trustees may prescribe.

2. Any resident of the town over the age of fourteen, may have the use of the library upon signing a promise to obey the rules, and may take therefrom one volume at a time ; but members of the same household shall not have more than three volumes at the same time.

3. No book shall be kept out more than fourteen days, and new books may be required by the trustees to be returned within a shorter time. No book shall be taken out again by the person returning it, or by any one of the same household, until after one full library day from its return.

4. Where a book is kept out beyond the time allowed under these rules, a fine shall be paid of two cents a day for the time of such detention, and books detained two weeks beyond the time prescribed, shall be sent for at the expense of the delinquent. No books can be taken out by any person disobeying this rule until all fines and charges are paid, and until all books retained by him contrary to the rules, are restored or replaced as herein required.

5. Every person entitled to take books from the library, shall receive from the librarian a card, on which the name of the person and the numbers of the books called for shall be written, and whenever a book is called for, or returned by or on behalf of any person, the proper card must be presented; the person to whom the card belongs will be responsible for all books delivered, and for all fines and penalties incurred on account of them.

6. All injuries to books beyond a reasonable wear, and all losses shall be made good to the satisfaction of the trustees. If the volume lost or injured forms part of a set, the whole set shall be replaced, to the satisfaction of the trustees, and the person replacing it shall be entitled to the damaged set. All penalties shall be rigidly enforced by the librarian, who shall withhold the use of the library from all delinquents, subject to an appeal to the trustees.

7. Books of reference, and such other works of special value as may be designated by the trustees, shall not be taken from the library without special authority.

8. Upon every volume which may be presented to the library, a label shall be placed, stating the name of the giver, and the date of presentation.

9. A book shall be kept at the library in which any person entitled to take out books, may enter the name of any book which he desires to have purchased for the library; but the trustees shall not be obliged to purchase books so suggested, unless they think it proper to do so.

10. The librarian shall from time to time, upon the request of the trustees, make an examination into the condition of the library, and all books shall be returned upon seasonable notice, at such times as the trustees may appoint. In case of delay in making such return, a penalty of fifty cents per volume shall be collected, and the book shall be immediately sent for at the expense of the delinquent.

11. Persons visiting the library will be required to deport themselves quietly, and to avoid all unnecessary conversation. No persons except the librarian and the trustees shall be allowed to take books from the shelves.

12. Catalogues of the books containing the rules shall be provided by the trustees, and one copy shall be given to every household in the town. They may also be obtained by any person of the librarian at the price to be fixed by the trustees.

13. The librarian shall keep the library in good order, and properly warmed and lighted. He shall record in a book kept for that purpose, the title of each book purchased, its cost and the date of the purchase; and when books are presented, he shall record in the same book the name of the giver, and the date of the gift. He shall properly cover and number each book, and place upon it the proper label or stamp.

He shall also enter in a book to be kept for that purpose, the name of each person entitled to the use of the library, the number of each book taken and the date when delivered, and shall duly check the number when the book is returned; and if a book has been kep out more than two weeks, he shall note the time when it is returned.

He shall keep an account of all penalties incurred and paid, when and by whom, and shall pay over the amount to the trustees monthly. He shall carefully examine the account of each person on the first week in January, April, July, and October in each year, to ascertain all negligence in the due return of books, and after such examination, shall forthwith notify all delinquents by written communication. He shall send at once for all books which have been out for two weeks beyond the time prescribed, at the expense of the delinquent.

14. It shall be the duty of the trustees to provide a suitable room for the library; to select and contract with a librarian; to decide all appealed cases of damages or loss of books, and to exercise a general supervision and control of the library. They shall, upon the order of the selectmen, draw from the town treasury such appropriations as the town may annually make for the benefit of the library, and shall also receive all money accruing from fines or any other source, and, after defraying all necessary expenses, shall use the remainder in the purchase of books for the library; and at the annual town meeting they shall report to the town the condition of the library, and exhibit a full and accurate account of all moneys received and disbursed by them.

NOTE.

The Catalogue is arranged alphabetically. Every book appears twice, — first under its author, with the heading, title and imprint in full, when known; and, again, under its subject, with the author and imprint. This is followed by an index of subjects.

There are eleven cases in the library, each case containing seven or more shelves; the books on each shelf are numbered from one to the full capacity of the shelf.

A book number will then read thus, 64.3, which means the third book on the fourth shelf of the sixth case.

In writing numbers upon the cards care is necessary in placing the point, as seen in the Catalogue.

A star (*) prefixed to a title denotes that the book is not to be taken from the library.
